About Nether wasdale and Cumbria

Nether Wasdale is a village west of Wast Water, the deepest lake in Britain. It has two pubs, a farm shop and a café. It's a base for climbing, hiking and other outdoor pursuits. Canoeing and kayaking are perfect for these waters. Wast Water is by The Screes and at the head of the lake the Great Gable and Scafell Pike can be reached. The view from the top is breath-taking. Wasdale Head has the church of St. Olaf, dating back to 1550, its beams are said to have come from Viking long boats. Close by are the villages of Santon Bridge and Gosforth.
